Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi was born on 2nd October, 1869 in a Respectable vaishya family of Porbandar state in Kathiawad. His parents were people. His father Karamchand Uttamchand Gandhi held a high and responsible post in the Porbander state. He received his early education at the local primary and high schools after passing the entrance examination. He went to England to qualify himself for legal profession. He was truthful and honest from his childhood. He was very careful about his character.

After qualifying himself for the legal profession, he returned to India and started practice in the Bombay High-court. He went to Natal in South-Africa. He established the Natal Indian congress. Under its auspices, he led an agitation for the removal of those disabilities from the Indians who were suffering. He invented the new weapon of Satyagraha. He fought with his weapon tenaciously. He suffered imprisonments but he is true to his resolve. His effort met with a great success there.

The European indigo planters in Bihar were oppressing the tenant very much. Mahatma Gandhi transferred his activities to Motihari. He took up the cause of the indigo cultivators. His intervention brought about the settlement between them.

(ii) Discipline:

Discipline is necessary in every aspect of life. In fact discipline adds to our success. Without discipline our social life will be sad and disorderly. Discipline is the most important factor behind the progress of any nation. It is necessary in school. Students must be disciplined because they are the future citizens of the country. If drivers do not obey the traffic rules, it may be too dangerous to move on road. Can a family be happy if all its members refuse to obey the hard of the family? Discipline plays the very important role in the army. The soldiers obey the commands of their officers. Without questioning them. There is no scope for discussion in the battlefield. A Disciplined army wins the battle. If the soldiers lack Discipline, they may be lose the battle. A factory cannot produce a lot of goods, if the workers are undisciplined. There would be anarchy in the society if all members are in own way. Without Discipline a nation cannot progress. So, Discipline is very essential of life.

(iii) The Importance of trees

Trees play important role. They are main features of human's survival. We need oxygen which is released by trees. There is no chance to survival on earth. It gives us fire in winter and shed in summer. It provides us flower and fruits. It cause rain and gives shelter in wild animals. Although all animals do not eat plants directly. Yet, eat indirectly, food chain depends upon trees and plants. It prevents flood. It gives us natural beauty. Furniture is made of tress which give us house a pleasant look. Even books and copies are made of trees. The importance of trees can't described ultimately.

(iv) Hostel Life:

Hostel life does not homely comfort but it has several advantages. It forms healthy habits and provide great facilities for students. The students living in a hostel are not free to do whatever they like. They have to follow a fixed routine. They have to study in fixed time. The students learn a lot about human nature and social life as they live with fellow students from different social backgrounds. They share the joy and sorrow of one another. Hostel life developed more qualities. Which prove very useful in later life. It strengthens character and lays the foundation of good citizenship. It teaches the virtues of love and co-operation, which last throughout life.
